TERMS AND CONDITIONS

Fixed Price Work

I may agree to perform certain work for a fixed price in accordance with an agreed specification and/or release plan/s. In this event, the specification and/or release plan/s are fixed. Any additional or unspecified work will be to the Client's account. A fifty percent payment of any fixed-price component is required prior to commencement of work and twenty-five percent payment is required upon delivery of the software for User Acceptance Testing. The final twenty-five percent payment is required prior to the Release entering Production. I will only conduct fixed-price work in a Development and/or Staging environment. The Client forfeits any incomplete or unfinished work the moment the Release enters Production. No warranty applies after the Release enters Production.

Payment Terms

Payment terms are 15 days from the date of an invoice sent via email. The Client agrees that I can stop work after exceeding 15 days. The source code is NOT part of deliverables unless explicitly agreed upon for web and mobile development only. Product design includes the design files and any accompanying illustration used.

Cancellations by the Client

If any job is canceled by the Client after commencement, a 25% fee is charged if cancelled before half the agreed time of development is reached. If half of the estimated time is passed then the 50% fee is charged for costs and time incurred.

Any further hours completed will be charged to the Client as a proportion of the quoted price based on hours completed to that point in time.

Training and Documentation

Documentation, if required, is at no additional cost. If documentation has not been specifically estimated or quoted, it will not be supplied. All custom documentation, including additions, deletions, and amendments is to the Client's account.

Deadlines

I may choose to estimate the completion date of a project. While I will endeavor to meet all deadlines, I do not offer any guarantees, and I am not liable for losses suffered due to a project being completed after the estimated completion date that may be caused due to unforeseen circumstances. Any change in requirements after commencement may affect the timelines and will be updated accordingly.
